TIMMY LARKING AND CON DUGAN BATTLE FOR A PURSE.

The Jerseyman Wins on a Foul After Twelve Lively Rounds are Fought-He Has It His Own Way from the Third Bout-Dugan's Clever Work Later in the Fight-A Burge the Scene of the Mill.

A rattling glove contest was fought by Jimmy Larkins, of Jersey City, and Con Dugan, of Brooklyn, rival 123-pound pugilists, on a barge early this morning.

The "mill" was for a $200 purse, and as Dugan refused to strip until that amount was made up, several trips had to be made among the would-be spectators with a hat before even $150 clear of expenses were realized.

It was after 1 o'clock when the men stripped for the battle, Dugan was seconded by Jack Fallon and Paddy Smith, Brooklyn's heavy and light weight champions, and Larkins was waited on by M. Moran, the clever amateur feather-weight, and Ed Cahill, the amateur light-weight. George Early and Steve Brodie kept the time, while a well-known sporting writer was referee. The gloves were two-ounce ones.

The first round was fought in good style. Dugan standing up to his work cleverly and replying to Larkins's swinging rights with good left-hand straight counters. He landed repeatedly on the Jerseyman's nose and eyes. Hushed applause encouraged the clever fighters to even better efforts in the second round, in which Larkius seemed the better man. Dugan got in one tremendous left-handed swinging crack in this round, which made Larkins's friends shift uneasily in their seats.

made swinging crack in this round, which made Larkins's friends shift uneasily in their seats.

Few of them noticed, though, a moment later, what was really more serious for their man's chances. In trying to land a swinging cross-counter Larkins almost broke his right wrist. He twisted it badly and used it with caution during the rest of the battle.

The third, fourth, fifth and sixth rounds were much alike, Larkins apparently having it all his own way, but every now and then Dugan would get in a good straight counter on nose or body that told its tale.

Dugan's clever work in the seventh, eighth and ninth rounds were so much admired as to almost make nim a favorite in the betting over his taller, reachier opponent.

Larkins rushed his man steadily. Dugan tired rapidly in the tenth round, when he resorted to clinching. Once he hip-locked Larkins clean over his shoulder, and the referce admitted that in a stake fight Larkins should have won on the foul.

The eleventh and twelfth rounds were full of repetitions of Dugan's manifest intentions of losing on a foul. He clinched, wrestled and even tried to butt with his head.

The battle and purse were awarded Larkins on a palpable foul, by Dugan in the twelfth round, after the contest had lasted forty-six minutes. Dugan tripped Larkins and fell on him after having been repeatedly warned.

Mr. Bates has been in the advertising business iwenly-five years, during which time he has expended millions of dollars for manufacturers and merchants for advertising purposes.

During he twenty-five years Mr. Bates has been it business he has been the head of two advertising firms. When he first started in business, in the old World building, where the Potter Building now stands, he had for a partner Mr. S. M. Pettengill. The firm name was Bates & Pettengill. Mr. Bates retired from this firm and cast his lot with Mr. Locke, better known as Petroleum v. Nasby, who died a few weeks ago. This firm was in business live years when Mr. Locke retired.

Since then Mr. Bates has continued business shone. In April, 1886, he purchased the entire business of his former partner, S. M. Pettengill, and marged it with his own.

During the twenty-five years of these two partnerships and since Mr. Bates estimates that, at the lowest calculation, he has paid the newspapers of this country and of the Dominion of Canada over $18,000,000 in clash for advertisements inserted in them, a record equalied by but few advertising agents in the world.

Mr. Bates offers the best possible advantages to advertisers, and any business placed in his hands is sure of being promptly attended to and the most satisfactory results guaranteed. He is at present the agent for a number of the lorgest menufacturers and merchants of this country and Europe. One firm a few years ago placed in his hands $60,000 to be distributed among the newspapers at large for one insertion of an advertisement prasung the quanty of their goods.

Dr. Buckland's SCOTCH OATS ESSENCE is Nature's own tonic, pure, reliable, harmless and marvellous in its action. It is free from every conceivable form or trace of any injurious ingredient of any kind, and the systematic persecution which has been pursued against it for months past has originated solely in business and professional jealousy and an endeavor to stamp out if possible so valuable a remedy and one which has played such have with the ordinary trade in proprietary medicines.

SCOTCH OATS ESSENCE is sate for the octogenarian, the adult, the schoolboy and the infant. It has cured disease after disease that has been pronounced hopeless by some of our most eminent physicians. There is not an eminent medical manin the profession to-day, if he is:liberal-minded, unbiassed and honest, who will not attest to the marvellous effects of SCOTCH OATS ESSENCE in the most dangerous diseases.

But, if readers of advertisements insist upon the exercise of their personal rights in the matter, we yield the well-taken point, and beg the privilege of a brief review, with an address to ladies, as follows, viz. : 1. That in the later days of 1887 we purchased the Dry Goods Establishment, with the properties therein contained, at the convenient corner we now occupy, where we endeavor to conduct business on a plan of mutual interest, as between the buyer and seller.

2. Our first endeavor, after possession, pointed to the sale, at some price, of a major portion of the stock bought from our respected predecessors, and to substitute therefor a selection of goods better adapted to the wants of ladies in all the stations of life, IN WHICH WE HAVE HAD SUCCESS.

3. We have in course so improved the internal arrangements of the store, the variety and character of the stock, and so impressed those among our aids as may have required it with the value of kindly and polite attention that we are encouraged dally with expressions of appreciation and pleasure from customers of the house, new and old, with what we have thus far achieved at our eligible corner.

4. We believe that we so understand the intricacles of the Dry Coods business, that we are now so equipped with able and intelligent department managers, and that our stock is so well bought and offered at prices that are so moderate, that OURS IS THE CHEAPEST DRY COODS HOUSE IN NEW YORK CITY OR ELSEWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES.

5. Considering the facts embraced in our foregoing statements and the few specifications as to stock which follow. we boldly but respectfully ask for the patronage (at least in part) of every lady, rich or poor, in the city of New York and in the adjacent cities, towns or country.

We would particularize in our Stock some lots recently bought at great sacrifice. One is an importer's entire balance of FINE FRENCH CAMEL'S HAIR PANEL ROBES, in light-weight fabrics and colors, drab, tan, fawn, brown and heliotrope, all beautifully embroidered in bead or braid, or both, at the uniform price of $12.50. Nothing of equal value ever seen at so low a price.

We have received a large line of new-styled Stripes and mixed light-weight Coods, pretty designs, 40 inches wide, at 33c. Absolutely very cheap.

All-wool Henriettas, 48 inches wide, satin finish, newest colorings, at $1.

We are offering a lot of black Surah Serge, all wool, at 30c. per yard, 40 inches wide; never before so low. Black Chevereus, 40 inches, at 50c.; wonderfully good for price. From these we graduate up in qualities to Priestley's exquisite silk warps.

We offer Chantilly and Spanish Culpure Lace Flouncings 42 inches wide, from $1.15 to $1.75 and up.

In the Silk Department we include all designs in colors, French and Domestic Blacks, Checks, Plaids, and other new things in Figured China and India Silks, ranging from 38c. to $3.50 per yard.
